In this Bicentennial year our thoughts turn toward the past. Cumberland has not yet reached an age of 200 years but now in its 134th year it has a rich heritage of which it can be proud. It is a heritage of service and academic excellence.

The students of Cumberland College contribute greatly to the success of the College. Many alumni have excelled in positions of trust throughout the country in such professions as religion, law, education, the armed forces, business, and government. One such alumnus, Cordell Hull, achieved worldwide prominence as the father of the United Nations. He conceived of the Good Neighbor Policy, and won the Nobel Prize for Peace. He served as Secretary of State longer than any other man.

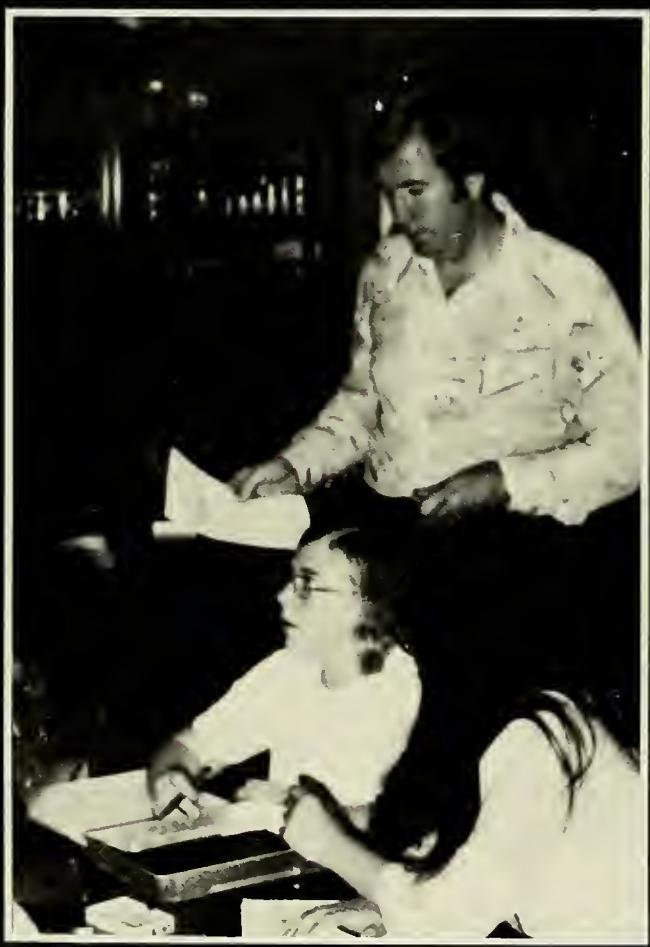

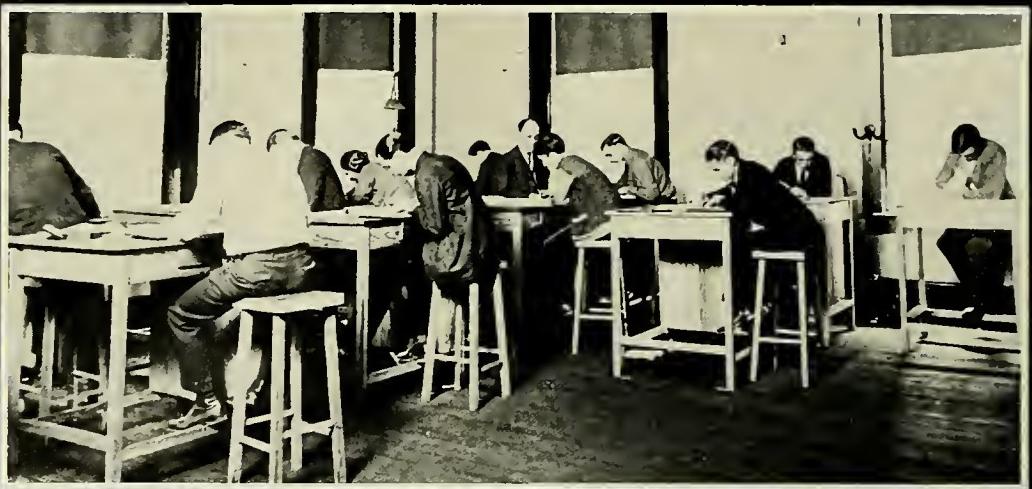

Cumberland students have always displayed the high standards and integrity characteristic of Cumberland College, and have made noteworthy contributions to their society.

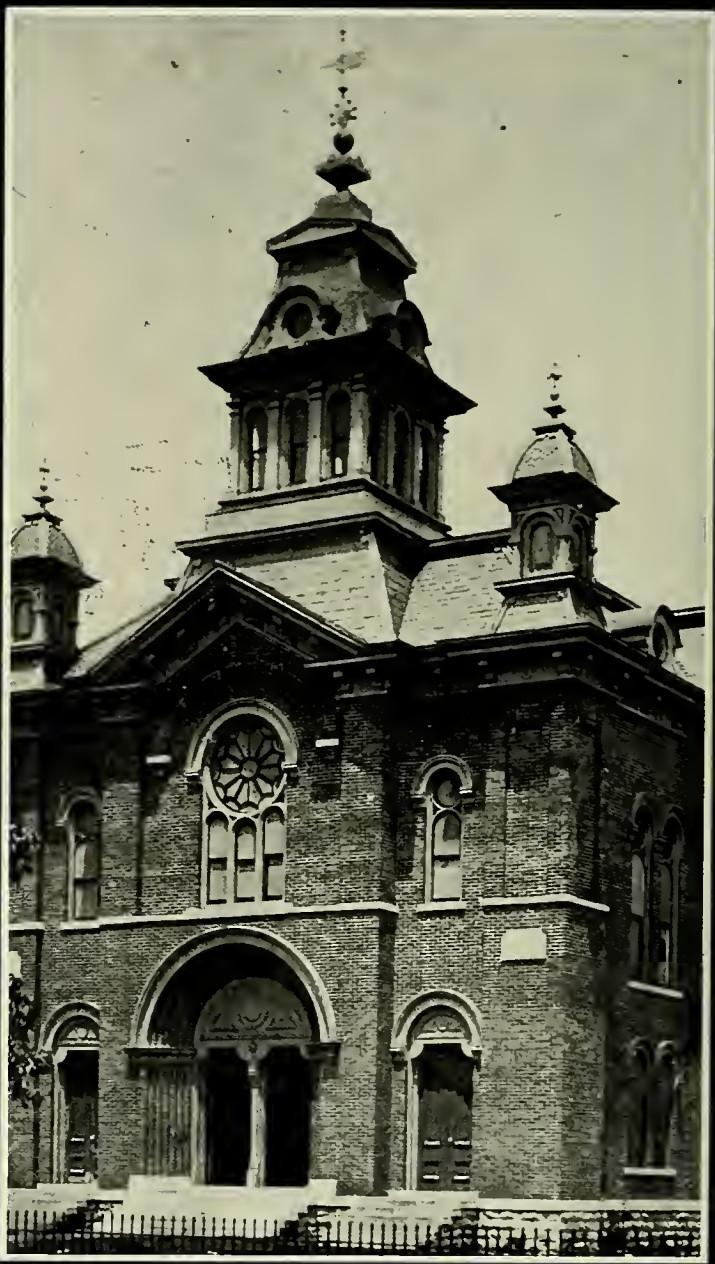

Cumberland University was founded in 1842. Classes began with an enrollment of 45 students and 4 professors. Today, over 400 students attend classes at Cumberland College under the guidance of over 20 faculty members. Over the years Cumberland has continuously provided for the students a select body of superior instructors. Through the continued efforts of its faculty and staff, Cumberland's great tradition will continue to influence the lives of its students.

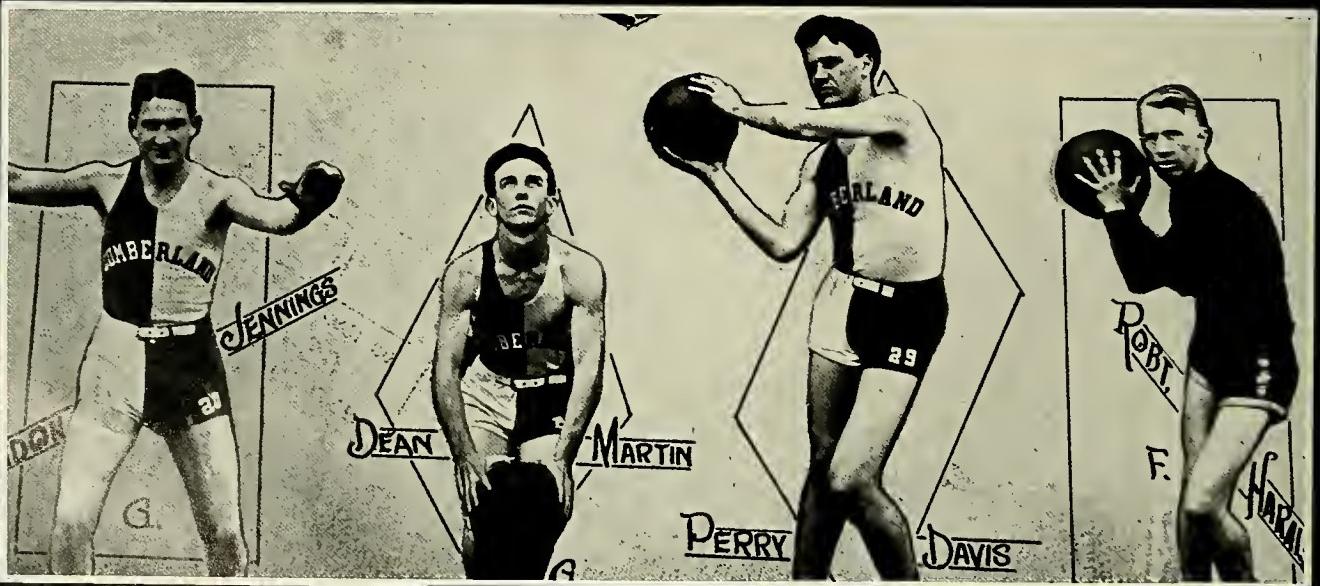

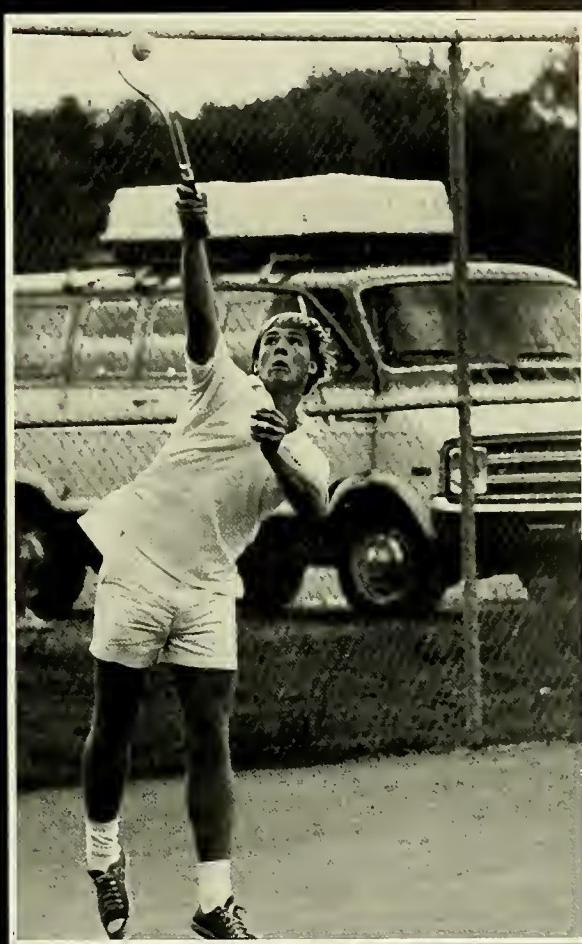

A series of unfortunate events dealt damaging blows to the Cumberland campus. During the Civil War, the buildings and library were completely destroyed. Written on the sole remaining column of the old University Hall was the single Latin word "RESURGAM" meaning "I will arise." True to these words new buildings were constructed and at the present time the Cumberland campus is an attractive home for the college.

Second only to academics, athletics is a vital part of the Cumberland student's education. In addition to the highly successful basketball program, intercollegiate sports such as baseball, tennis, golf and intramural activities are scheduled to provide a well-rounded physical education program. Notable events in Cumberland's sports history are the defeat of the Bulldog football team by Georgia Tech by a score of 222-0 and in recent years, the excellent record of its basketball team which ranked 4th in the nation.

Cumberland College is not only a school with a heritage but one with a promising future. Its academic excellence and superior instructors, and the ability to endure and progress all ensure the immortality of Cumberland. But most of all, it is the students who create a colorful legacy for those who will follow.

The '75-'76 basketball season was one of change and adjustment for the Bulldogs of Cumberland College. Mickey Englett, formerly assistant coach at the University of South Alabama, replaced Cliff Ellis as head coach, with Harry Frank as the new assistant coach. The team got off to a slow start but have strengthened going into conference play, with a good chance to win the third straight division title. Transfers including Collins, Childers, and Gehring have helped the team a great deal and the team as a whole is exciting with high scoring and a fast moving pace. The Bulldogs are among the top ten teams in the nation in scoring and lead the TJCAA in scoring.

CC Cheerleaders DYN-O-MITE

This year's '75-'76 cheerleading squad displayed its many talents by sparking enthusiasm among the spectators and pepping up CC's fantastic basketball team. High spirits invaded the air with the help of Edwin Santiago (only male on the squad) and his acrobatic aerial antics. Besides the ever constant participation during the games the cheerleaders found time to hold a dance following the Bulldogs vs. Hiwassee game. The squad is headed by Wanda Santiago and Mitzi Officer. Others are Tina Johnson, Edwin Santiago, and Lisa Tuggle.

Drill Team Swings Into Action

The '75-'76 Cumberland College Drill Team has enjoyed spectacular success this season as a functioning part of the home basketball games. Under the strict supervision of sponsor Mrs. Kathy McGovern, the Drill Team practices long, hard hours in preparation for the halftime entertainment. All is not work, however, for the fun and enjoyment derived from membership is evidenced by its leaders and members: Ginger Lowe and Wanda Jewell, Co-Captains.

Phi Theta Kappa is a national honor society especially for junior college students. Students who wish to become members must maintain a grade point average of 3.00 and higher. The Phi Upsilon chapter at Cumberland is dedicated to promoting academic excellence. This year the club sponsored a Turkey Raffle and purchased a roll of patriotic music for the carillon in honor of the Bicentennial. Sponsors for the club are Mrs. Lucie Brown and Mrs. Frankie Kinnard.

PHOENIX STAFF

Much hard work and dedication went into the 1975-76 publication of Cumberland's yearbook, the PHOENIX. All day "yearbook sessions" overcame the usual difficulty of meeting deadlines. New ideas and innovations were used in an attempt to better the layout of the book. Special appreciation and many thanks go to Mr. Jim Dressler who helped us greatly by his diligent work in the photo lab. The PHOENIX is under the guidance of Miss Cynthia Todd.

HONORS

Mr. and Miss Cumberland

Ron Tipton

Cindy Cannon

The greatest honor a Cumberland College male and female student can receive is that of being chosen Mr. and Miss Cumberland. To be considered for this honor, a student must first be nominated by the faculty. Once the nominations have been made, Mr. and Miss Cumberland are chosen by the student body on the basis of a combination of personal, social, and academic contributions to Cumberland College. This year's selections for the honor are Ron Tipton and Cindy Cannon.

Trend Settlers of CC's Student Activities

A native of Indiana, Ron Tipton has given his support and efforts to Cumberland College throughout his 1½ years here. Ron serves as the Student Body Vice-President, is a member of Phi Theta Kappa, Rotaract, Outdoor Club, The President's Round Table, and is a member of the tennis team.

Cindy Cannon is an active woman on the Cumberland College Campus. In the two brief years at CC, she has accomplished many things. Cindy is the editor of the PHOENIX, Sec.-Treas. of the Student Body, a Sophomore Class Favorite, a member of Who's Who, Phi Theta Kappa, the History Club, and the President's Round Table. Cindy plans to continue her education in the field of Library science.
